These capsules are a trailblazing combination of wild rosemary, wild sage, wild St. John's wort, ginkgo biloba, and High 10-HDA royal jelly. All of the ingredients of Neuroloft are non-irradiated and free of chemicals and pesticides. This combination has been formulated for the demanding schedule of our modern lifestyles. It is common for typical employees and family members to be pulled in many exhausting directions daily and to have multitasking demands placed upon them. Calm down.

Ginkgo leaf has been shown to have a wide range of biological activities which include a protective effect on the blood-brain barrier.

St. John's wort may help to increase the availability of the neurotransmitter serotonin. Its action is based on the ability of the active ingredient, hypericin, to inhibit the breakdown of neurotransmitters.

Wild rosemary is an excellent source of calcium, and its powerful antioxidant properties attack free radicals, which attack brain cells. Rosemary energizes the mind and also produces natural benefits for the digestive system and intestinal tract.

Wild mountain sage produces remarkable antioxidant effects as a powerful natural preservative that can help to safeguard cells.

This unique synergistic blend of herbs and spices is not contaminated with any chemicals, herbicides or pesticides. It is only what nature provides, without any toxic contamination. The final result will be a contented individual more prepared to handle daily stress.
