

NutriSense™ RAW

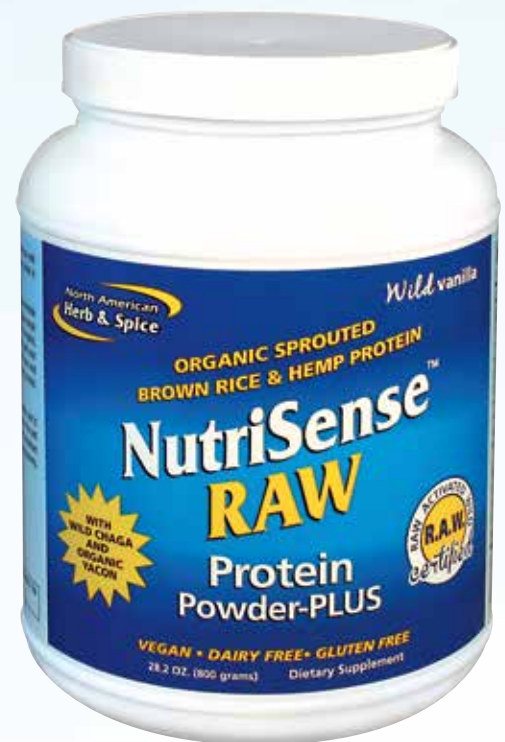

Protein Powder-PLUS with wild chaga and organic yacon

What a powerful, complete, and sophisticated protein powder it is—NutriSense RAW. Your body needs complete protein for ideal health and to rebuild, especially for those who exercise. Yet, it is also needed by every cell in body—just for maintenance. NutriSense RAW is complete based on a combination of sprouted brown rice protein plus raw hemp protein—the most biologically powerful plant protein combination known. Fortified with stabilized organic flax, rice bran, and rice germ, this is far more complete, nutritionally, as a protein powder than any other. Plus, NutriSense RAW also contains wild raw chaga, organic yacon, and red sour grape. This makes it potent beyond belief. This also increases its nutritional value and its absorption. What power a person feels when taking it. A mere 2 tablespoons provides 12 gm of biologically available protein, plus a wide array of other nutrients, including dense amounts of B vitamins and iron. B vitamins aid in protein digestion as well as assimilation. Containing flax, rice bran, and hemp, it is also an excellent source of soluble fiber. The organic yacon in addition to giving a great taste, the yacon provides inulin (FOS), which stimulates the growth of the healthy bacteria.

A full list of the ingredients is as follows:
